FRIENDLESS OLD MAN ROBBED OF LIBERTY

Young Wife Tired Of Aged Husband Sends Him To Asylum

A legal travesty was enacted here Monday when an aged and friendless old man was railroaded to the asylum, and public sentiment is aroused to the boiling point.

Old man James Bear, who has passed his eightieth birthday, was the victim. Living a bachelor until he was 65 years old Uncle Jim married a very young woman. He formerly lived in the Taft neighborhood. About twelve years ago he bought property in Hartford and moved here. The expected happened, and the old man and the young wife disagreed. The breach widened and an actual, though not a legal separation, followed. Living in the same house but in different rooms, the couple continued the quarrel. Uncle Jim's enfeebled body was reflected in his mental faculties, and his condition may properly be described as "Old and childish." Monday morning his wife made affidavit that uncle Jim was a lunatic. Trial was held immediately, and two hours later the old man was on his way to the asylum, at Hopkinsville. The evidence, according to citizens who heard it, did not justify the verdict of insanity, and some of the jurors, after the trial, expressed doubts if the verdict was a just one. However, it is natural enough for the juror in a lunacy trial to take it for granted the accused is crazy. Uncle Jim on the witness stand gave evidence of his sanity. He said he knew he was never a Solomon for wisdom, and that he knew his mind was somewhat enfeebled because of his age, but that he was not crazy.

Tuesday a number of citizens interested themselves in the case and went to Hopkinsville to consult the authorities at the asylum. These citizens advise us the asylum authorities say that they see no evidence of the old man's insanity, and that after holding him a few days for observation, will notify his friends to come for him. Uncle Jim draws a pension, as a Union veteran. The morning following the sending of Mr. Bear to the asylum his wife appeared in county court and asked to be appointed a Committee to manage his business, but upon learning there was a movement on foot to bring him back she deferred action in the matter.

BREAKING THE BONDS.

"What God hath joined together" let not man put asunder" probably did not refer to the courts, and the divorce mills keep up a steady grind. Three couples have recently filed petitions with the circuit court to be released from marriage mistakes.

Paul Millner disavows her marriage vows to E. M. Millner; alleging cruel and inhuman treatment and settled aversion. She says she and her husband were married in 1915 and lived together until 1918, when they separated.

E. T. Bishop asks for a legal separation from his wife, Nancy G. Bishop. Mr. Bishop avers he and his wife were married in 1910 and lived unhappily together until 1916. According to his petition Mrs. Bishop has been not only disagreeable but positively dangerous to his life and limb. He sets out that she has assaulted him with pokers and broomsticks, and has threatened to kill him. However, he does not allege she ever used Mrs. Jigg's favorite weapon, the rolling pin.

Jennie Peach applies for a decree of legal separation from her husband, Charlie Peach. This couple was married in 1912 and separated four years later. According to Mrs. Peach's petition her husband whipped, beat and cursed her, and otherwise made her life miserable. She says she does not know of the present whereabouts of the destroyer of her once placid peace of mind, but is anxious to terminate the period of her marital bondage.

One of the most refreshing petitions for divorce recently filed in the circuit court is that of H. F. Keeton against Rosa Keeton. H. F. alleges none of the customary charges of cruel and inhuman treatment, and does not mention the time honored charge of settled aversion. He simply says Rosa abandoned him many moons ago, since which time she has refused to live with him. This seems to be just a plain case of a woman losing her taste for her husband. The future wokers of Rosa, should she have such, will not be embarrassed with a court record alleging a long list of disagreeable faults.

VICTORY LOAN RALLY WAS A BIG AFFAIR

The Victory Loan rally, at Hartford, Wednesday, was a big affair, and brought one of the biggest crowds seen here in a long time. The special train, carrying the mammoth battle tank arrived on time, at 7:00 in the morning, and a good crowd was already there to meet it. In the meantime the banks of the county had arranged to take the entire allotment of bonds, and no effort at bond sales was attempted. At eleven o'clock the tank left the car and on its own power paraded the streets, stopping in front of the court house. The course of the strange fighting monster was followed by an army of people, who expressed wonder and amazement at the murderous looking engine of death. At the court house a number of speeches were made by soldier boys, who recounted their experiences on the field of battle and the audience responded with enthusiasm. Promptly at two o'clock the tank was loaded on the flat car and left for Hardsburg.

FATHER AND SON DIE IN FLAMES

Owensboro, Ky., April 14.—Ivan McCarthy and his 4-year-old son lost their lives by being burned to death about 2 o'clock this morning when their house was destroyed by fire, near Askin, in Ohio county. Mrs. McCarthy, who was in bed at the time was badly burned, but escaped through a side door. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective flue and when discovered by Mr. McCarthy the roof was falling in. Mr. McCarthy and his little son were trapped in the burning building. In opening a partition door Mrs. McCarthy was badly burned about the fact and body, but it is not believed she will die.

FLAG SERVICE.

There will be a flag service held at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, at Beda, the third Sunday in April, for the soldier boys of Beda precinct. All the boys returned from Europe, or the camps, together with their parents and friends, are urged to be present. An interesting program will be arranged, and an interesting and pleasant day will be spent.

BEADS ODDLY STRUNG

(By I. D. Claire.)

All the people want good roads, but some people want to pay for 'em and others want to pray for 'em.

If Ben Taylor does git married me and Tins is a goin' to give the weddin' a joint write up.

They say talk is cheap, but it don't appear that way to a feller who is answerin' a slander suit.

The stock law don't do much good a keepin' the automobile hog from runnin' at large.

People is funny. They never give any credit to the administration of city or county that gits it out of debt.

The younger generation would run the train of progress off the track if the older one didn't keep the breaks on.

If Browder had a give me that fine bunch of tobacco before I writ him up last week I'd a said a heap nice things than I did about him.

One of Hartford's young ladies had the tooth ache a few days last week and looks like a corpse. If it'd been the heart ache I guess she'd acted like one, seein' as how she can't stan trouble.

Fillmore Gossett's statue would repose in the Hall of Fame if I was makin' the fame statues. He brought me the finest twist of burley I've seen in many a day.

The feller who is always courtin' public favor hardly ever wins it. It seems like the public sorter takes to the feller who don't care a tinker's d—n whether it likes him or not.

About the only consolation about livin' in town is that you don't have to sweat and cuss and tear your clothes gatherin' blackberries, in dog days.

One of Hartford's lady-loving young men drove out in the country Sunday, and while there a calf licked all the dust and most of the paint off his car, and Tins was mean enough to say the young man put salt on his car as an inducement to the calf to lick the dust off. Some people just will be uncharitable.

EASTER

It is Easter, the gladness of Easter is 'round me!

It is Easter, the sweetness of Easter has found me!

The newly leaved boughs of the trees are low swinging,

The birds have come back to their homes and are singing,

The blossoms I missed have come back to the meadow,

Every last cloud has gone, and gone with it its shadow!

And each grief that was crowding about me and shoving Is gone; for my loves shall come back to my loving.

It is Easter; the lilies of Easter are swaying!

And the babies, their tresses all wind-blown, are playing!

And their wee fingers fashion me garlands of clover—

It is Easter—I grieved but my grieving is over!

For the ones whom I loved, and who left me back yonder,

Have grown nearer with Easter, grown nearer and fonder;

And when the breeze touches the tree-boughs low-swinging I almost feel their loving, I almost hear their singing.

And so all the gladness of Easter is 'round me,

Its gladness, its love and its peace have all found me;

To the ones whom I grieved for my arms are now nearer —

They were far and apart, now they're nearer and dearer!

And each Easter that comes brings me near to the going—

I will find them and love them. I know they are knowing!

I count up the Easters until I have found them,

With my lips on their hair and my arms tight around them.

—Judd Mortimer Lewis.

LIFE AFTER DEATH

"Except the Grain Fall in the Earth and Die, It Cannot Bring Forth Fruit."

PERHAPS because the power of rising from death is in man so integral a part of his nature he uses it familiarly without surprise, never quite realizing its God-quality. From his daily deaths of trouble and struggle, from the death of goals he cannot reach, the deaths of gladness and love, of hopes that die with each sunset, he is reclaimed a thousand times. He cannot really die, for all the seeming deaths that daily attend him. They fall into the ground and die. He rises, raised by the power of life in him, and new hopes, new works he brings forth.

To set this life-power to eternal things is hard for him, being within a material world of his own creation. He has lost the intensity of desire for the Risen Spirit, he goes to the laden churches, rejoicing in the flower-beauty that surges into bloom for the feast and in the massed choral singing of anthems. Surely he is sincere; thus loving, thus praising, thus entering into the service which the priests and people hold? With less keenness of sight, however, for the pure spiritual proving of the truth than those few were best with who long ago, at the earliest Easter, after long sorrow and waiting, saw the real resurrection, yet perceived the greater spiritual one through it.

But he knows it is in the churches that he will find the mystery of the new flower that is to rise. It is always there, to be realized at each kneeling, to be sown anew in each heart, to give fostering care, to brood over and bless the soil of the heart while waiting, to tell over and over again at every time the questioning heart is lifted up to it that what the mystery of life can do for the lesser grain it is bound to do by an ever truer measure of the same law for the spiritual growth.

Teachers Great Truth.

One can turn better, after that realization, to the full springtide and feel even gladder than nature, knowing the touch of the eternal flower within.

Wandering amid the old myths, filled with their beauty and their deathless attachment to life, one feels always under the shadow of ended things, upon the verge where all reality has gone down in darkness. The lasting and perfect poetry of these myths lingers like gorgeous unsunken sunsets. As the latest comer among them may class the great Christian story of the resurrection. It is indeed a great myth, a superlative myth in the real meaning of the word as a narrative founded on a remote event. But the singular, lone truth it symbolizes like a direct shaft of light separates it from the darkness of the old myths forever.

They taught the underworld, where the shades moved in a half life or pale regret conscious of lost joy, without hope. A mournful idea of immortality that satisfied no heart and from which the great thinkers of that age reached out in vain for light.

That light appears in the great simple law, "Except the grain fall in the earth and die it cannot bring forth fruit."

BEGINS HOLY WEEK

For Many Centuries Palm Sunday Has Been Day of Peculiar Significance.

ALM SUNDAY is the name usually given to the sixth and last Sunday in Lent and the beginning of holy week, after the custom of blessing branches of the palm tree or of other trees substituted in those countries in which the palm cannot be procured, and of carrying the blessed branches in procession, in commemoration of Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem.

Palms and branches of the palm were used in this historic entry because the palm was then regarded as an emblem of victory and the carrying and waving of its branches was emblematic of success and in honor of royalty.

The date of the first observance of Palm Sunday is uncertain. In the Greek church it was apparently observed as early as the fourth century.

In the middle ages the palm, worn as a decoration, denoted that the person so adorned had made the pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

In some countries people made use of figures of Christ seated on an ass, carved out of wood, which were carried in religious processions and even brought into the church. In other countries it was the custom to strew flowers and green boughs in church yards.

The palms used in the procession of the day are taken home by the faithful and used as a sacramental. They are preserved in prominent places in the houses, barns or even in the fields, and thrown into the fire during storms. From the blessed palms are procured the ashes for use on Ash Wednesday.

Where palms cannot be secured branches of olive, box, elder, spruce or other trees are used. In Rome olive branches are distributed to the people, while the clergy carry palms frequently dried and twisted into various shapes. In parts of Bavaria large swamp willows, with their catkins, and ornamented with flowers and ribbons, were used.

Because every great feast at this time was in some way a remembrance of the resurrection of Christ and was in consequence called Pascha, the Spanish term pascua florida had its origin. Thus it was that in 1512 the state of Florida, which was settled by the Spaniards, indirectly received its name.

two things which kept that early group humbly apart and fed it with profound wisdom—the desire of eternal love and a simple, uncompromising will to see the truth.

He feels so strong a life-power within him now that he is impelled to create his own lesser truth, wondering then at his dissatisfaction.

Sincere in Rejoicing.

It is not so much belief as perception that he lacks—a looking in the wrong direction with eyes dulled by dwelling on material objects. When the brightest day comes for celebrating

SABBATH OF LIGHT

By Annie Johnson Flint

"The third day he shall rise again... So they made the sepulchre sure, sealing the stone... He is not here; for he is risen, as he said." —Matthew 28:1, 2, 6, 6, 8, 9.

The Man had died on the cross, And they laid him in the tomb; The Living Stone in the stone, The Rock in the rock-hewn room; They left him alone with Death, And sealed the stone at the door; They made the sepulchre sure, And set their watch before.

"Lest his friends should steal him away, And say that he rose," they said. But Life escaped from Death, And the God-man rose from the dead.

The skeptical minds of men still think the sepulchre sure, But Christ had said, "I will arise," And the counsels of God endure.

Still his disciples go To carry the wondrous word: "The Lord is risen indeed!" We know, we have seen and heard. And the tomb men think so sure, With the seal of their scorn on the door.

The place where the Lord once lay, Is empty forevermore. —Sunday School Times.

IS GREAT ESTABLISHED FACT

Skeptics Have at All Times Failed to Disprove the Resurrection of Easter Morning.

The lesson of Easter involves the question of the divinity of Christ. There are two great miracles upon which Christianity rests. The miraculous birth and the resurrection go together. If we believe one we can believe the other. The former is not subject to historical proof. The latter has been proved and is one of the best-established facts in history.

Those who imagine themselves to be too "modern" to accept the resurrection as a literal fact, are deluding no one but themselves. There is nothing new in the effort to explain away the great event. Men have been trying out explanations ever since the guards who went to sleep on duty around the tomb excused themselves by saying the disciples stole his body away while they slept. Explainers have risen and fallen as the ages have come and gone and the deeper the explainers have gone into the matter, the more apparent has become the fact. The simple Gospel narratives gave enough of the physical details of the event to make it convincing; the fact that the disciples themselves did not expect the resurrection and were slow to believe it until they were forced to believe it by his presence among them; by exhibition of his sacred wounds and the fact that it became the burden of their preaching in the future all go to make up the indisputable collateral evidence of the literal fact.

Every one of the disciples is said to have died a martyr and his resurrection was their "testimony to martyrdom." —H. Lee Mills in Houston Post.

packed and treasured as sacred reliques which are carried and distributed over the whole civilized world.

At midnight the service of the resurrection is performed, after which many of the pilgrims start on their homeward journey.

Mere tourists are of course welcome, because they contribute somewhat to the trade of the season, but they stay one or several days at the longest, and do not enter into nor understand the real religious or social life of the people of the land, and consequently are regarded as outsiders.

TURKISH NO MORE

Whole World rejoices That "the Infidel" Has Been Driven From Holy City.

EASTER will be celebrated in Palestine as never before this many centuries, and all the Christian world will celebrate with greater fervor and deeper reverence now that the hand of the "infidel" is removed.

It is exactly 674 years since the Turk drove out the Christians and took possession of Jerusalem, after it had been taken by Frederick II, March 17, 1229, who crowned himself king of the Latin Kingdom, in imitation of that earlier king of Jerusalem, Godfrey of Ibelion (1099).

Land of Pilgrimage.

Palestine had been assigned to the Emperor of the East in 305 A.D., and was nominally Christian at that time, when pilgrimage to the Holy Land became almost a cult and the finding of reliques became a regular pursuit in all the places identified with the life of Jesus.

This was the period that might almost be termed the Christianizing of Palestine, for Christianity had developed far more vigorously at Rome and in other parts of the Roman empire than in the Holy Land itself, up to this time. Constantine had made it the state religion and Helena had found the "True Cross," so that there was a great stirring of interest throughout the land. Many fine churches were built, and Justinian erected the Golden Gate and part of a great church, now the Aksa mosque (527-565).

Christians Persecuted.

It was in 614 that Chosroes II, king of Persia, made his great inroad, persecuting the Christians wherever he found them, especially in what is now Armenia, and capturing Jerusalem. The Emperor Heraclius managed to regain control (629), but he had to yield before the might of the Caliph Omar (637), who erected many great structures, especially the mosque called after him, upon the great rock which had been the site of the temple of Solomon.

For more than 400 years the Mohammedans held sway, until as a result of the Crusades Godfrey of Ibelion took possession in 1099. The Christian powers could not, however, hold possession, for they were always fighting among themselves, and so Saladin, the mighty leader of the Moslems, gained a permanent hold over the land of Palestine and Jerusalem in 1187.

It was during the next century that the Christians under the leadership of Frederick II gained possession of Palestine for the last time, until our own day. But with dissension among the Christians of that time it was not difficult for the Turks to regain control in 1244 and retain it ever since, in one form or another.

Surrender of Jerusalem.

The surrender of Jerusalem to the British forces last December, and the subsequent conquest of much of the rest of the land now establishes Christian control, at least for the present, and the doubt has been raised whether any Christian power, even Germany, will dare to suggest that the holy places again be turned over to the power of the Moslem, no matter what the terms of peace may be.

Precisely what local changes in privileges of worship will come out of the change may not be foretold. For a long time a strange situation has prevailed in Jerusalem. The holy sepulchre, for example, with its reliques of Christian treasure, has been used by Greeks, Armenians and Western Christians in alternation, the control remaining with the Turkish authorities. Naturally many disputes have arisen out of so strange a situation.

This Easter Significant.

When the city was captured by the British there was great local anxiety as to what might result. With the entry of General Allenby, with his staff and certain French and Italian officers, these anxieties were quickly set at rest. The Jewish population soon learned that all was to be well with them and other sects represented in the citizenship of the historic place were equally reassured. A sense of peace, liberty and security had its immediate effect and influenced profoundly the preparations for the new, unexampled Easter as well as for future worship of every sort in the troubled Holy Land. In Jerusalem as elsewhere began to appear a conviction that, no matter how long world peace might be delayed, a new spirit was abroad throughout the earth.

This Easter, then, has a special significance, in view of all the centuries of struggle for holding the places consecrated to Christianity by the activity of its Savior.

Morning

A RESURRECTION FRAGMENT

MORNING—not the dawn of life's little day, so quickly shrouded by night—but the breaking of an eternal sunlight over the eternal hills.

WHAT an overwhelming difference to the heart which holds the risen Christ between the passing day and the everlasting Morning! Today heavy shadows falling of mystery and sorrow—tomorrow all gloom dispelled by the light that shines from that once marr'd visage. Today heaviness of disappointment or obscurity of ignorance—tomorrow, nothing between, no cloud, no time intervening, but Face to face with Jesus, Jesus who came, Jesus who lived, Jesus who suffered, Jesus who died, Jesus who rose in glorious resurrection.

Now the hazed and indistinct view—then the vision of perfect sight! Now the tumult and the strife—then the rest and life eternal! Now the weeping and the sighs—then the song and the fearless eyes! Now our dear ones dying—then no more parting! Now the open grave's farewell—then the resurrection greeting. Now the night winds chilling and killing—then the morning lifting and brightening! Morning on the mountains! Morning on the plains! Morning with an eternity in it! Morning—morning!

THE transforming touch of that hour! Only intelligence irradiated by contact with the skies could give us to recognize our heaviest cross, when it comes to crown us there. We shall find our failures; they will greet us as triumphs. We shall find our bereavements; they will meet us as reunions. We shall find our lost forgotten in eternal gain. We shall find our hidden struggles swallowed up in open victory. We shall find our hidden tears forming diadem gems. We shall find the complete fulfillment of every promise and the exceeding great reward of all our faith.

WHAT a time of finding of all that is dear, and desired, and best! For it is the Resurrection Dawn, the stone is rolled away, the gates are flung back, the boundary is crossed, the veil is torn—

THE MORNING HAS BROKEN

Their Easter Offering

WANTS NO ARTIFICIAL PROOF

Believing Christian Can Entertain No Doubt Concerning the Resurrection of the Savior.

To the normal mind there can be no compromise, writes H. Lee Mills in the Houston Post. If Christ did not rise from the dead, the most gigantic fraud in the history of the world was perpetrated and every minister of the Gospel is either a conscious or a deluded "faker." If there was no resurrection, the whole missionary propaganda is foolish and a failure and evangelize and "Barmumize" become synonymous terms. Does the history of Christian missions, from the first to the twentieth century savor of fraud, or even of delusion? The command to evangelize all nations was given after the resurrection.

After all the arguments have been marshaled before human reason for or against the return of Christ in the glorified body, the question of does Jesus live can be answered by the believing Christian without artificial proof. If like Paul, he knows whom he believes, doubts about the details of the event of the resurrection do not concern him.

The Hare and Easter.

The origin of the Easter rabbit is unknown. There is a German legend to the effect that the hare was originally a bird and was changed into a quadruped by the Goddess Ostara, or Eastre, and in gratitude to Ostara, or Eastre, the hare exercises its original bird function to lay eggs for the goddess on her festal day. The children among the Pennsylvania Germans are told on Easter morning that this "Oshter has" laid the colored eggs that are given to them, or which are placed in nests at some convenient place for the children to find them.

SILENT DEATH SHIP GUERRILLA OF SKIES

Pilotless Airship Will Bomb Cities And Armies

In an address at Fort Worth, Tex., a short time ago, Secretary of War Baker disclosed that a successful automatic control for airplanes had been invented in America. In testing this invention, he said, a machine with a pilot was sent out first. The pilot located a distant objective and then returned to the starting point without making a landing. Then another plane, equipped with the new automatic control apparatus set to land at the designated point, was started without a pilot. The machine landed so close to the predetermined spot that if it had been a shell from a big gun it would have been considered a good shot.

Mr. Baker referred to the invention to show how terrible future wars may be if there is no league of nations to stop them, intimating that the device has tremendous potentialities as an agent of destruction.

A British non-rigid airship recently started from the Firth of Forth, flew over the North sea, directly toward Denmark, and made a circuit embracing the coast of Denmark, Schleswig-Holstein, Helgoland, north Germany and Holland. The weather was extremely unfavorable but the round trip of 1,285 miles was covered without a stop in about 40½ hours. This flight was the largest non-stop ever made by the British airship and is believed to have established a world's record for non-rigid aircraft.

A British flier not long ago covered the distance of 172 miles between Folkestone, England, and Paris in 74 minutes. This record flight which was at the rate of about two and a third miles a minute is said to have set a new mark for aerial voyages across the English channel.

An American mail-carrying plane a few days ago flew over 200 miles in 125 minutes with a load of mail between New York and Washington. This was at the average of one and three-fifths miles a minute.

A prize of $50,000 has been offered by the Commonwealth of Australia for the first successful flight between Australia and Great Britain by Australian aviators. The London Daily Mail has offered a like prize for the first successful trans-Atlantic flight between Europe and America. Two British fliers who have entered for the prize propose to undertake the flight in a 375-horse-power plane capable of making 95 miles an hour with a load of a little more than 2600 pounds.

Plans are now being made by American naval officers for a flight across the Atlantic in seaplanes but they will not compete for the London newspaper prize. It is proposed to use machines of a type that some time ago carried 51 passengers in a test flight. Three seaplanes now at Rockaway Beach, Long Island, from which the machines are to start, have three Liberty motors each, with a combined horsepower of 1000 to 1200. A fourth plane is to have four such engines, it is announced. The machines have wings 125 feet long and 12 feet wide and are capable of approximately 100 miles an hour.

From Rockaway Beach the planes will fly northward and start the real trans-Atlantic voyage from some point on the North Atlantic coast, possibly in Newfoundland. It is said that the machines will carry wireless outfit. These, with the aid of relays through the destroyers which are to be stationed along the route, will enable them to communicate at any time with the shore.

The weather bureau is working on the preparation of special charts and data relative to air currents, atmospheric conditions, etc., for the guidance of the fliers. It is said also that they will have special, lately designed instruments to aid them in the flight.

Experienced airplane builders are convinced that under existing mechanical conditions only huge flying boats, equipped with four or more powerful motors, can be counted on to make a successful continuous voyage across the ocean. It is pointed out that the machine would have to be large and powerful in order to carry the required supply of gasoline and that several engines would be necessary as a guarantee against failure resulting from an engine breakdown.

Miss Katherine Wilson, of Dallas, Texas, a missionary of the M. E. Church, South, to Africa, has written recently to her parents that the missionaries are having a hard time getting enough little African girls together to form a school. Miss Wilson walked a long distance to another village in an effort to get a few girl children to come to school. The chief told them very politely, but firmly, that all the little girls of his village had been purchased as wives and their fathers had no further jurisdiction over them. One of the results of the Centenary Movement of the M. E. Church, South, will be the establishment of schools in Africa in the hope of uplifting degraded womanhood on the Dark Continent.

PROMINENT DOCTOR AFTER TRYING OUT ALL OTHER CHILL TONICS SAYS MENDENHALL'S BEST

Dr. R. S. Pierce, proprietor city pharmacy, Marianna, Fla., writes: "A few years ago when I purchased this drug store I found six dozen bottles of Mendenhall's Chill & Fever Tonic in stock and it was totally unknown to trade. I noted on the circular the quinine strength and placed it in the hands of a number of my patients to try it out. They were so universally pleased with the preparation I decided to try it in my own family and my wife now will use no other for our children." Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

MAN OR MULE WAGES—WHICH IS WORTH MORE?

Here is a story that one of the managers of the Centenary Campaign of the Methodist Episcopal Church picked up in one of the faraway rural districts that is being reached in this movement for Christianity."

The mule was hitched to a two-horse wagon. The man stood by, waiting for the wagon to be loaded. His business was to drive the mule.

"How much a day for the outfit?" I asked.

"Three-fifty for driver and team," the man answered.

"Do you own the team?"

"No; I drive for Mr. ——."

"And how much do you get?"

"Seven dollars a week if I make full time."

A dollar a day for the man, a dollar and a quarter for each of the mules.

The man had a wife and three children to house, feed and clothe. The mule had no family, no coal bills, no clothing to buy.

The mule was paid $1.25 per day and the man a dollar.

Indeed, the mule had the best of it in other ways. If the weather was too bad for work, the mule had snug shelter and three full meals a day. If the man lost a day, it meant less food on the table and less coal on the fire. Enough lost days meant unpaid rent, an empty pantry, and another name on the charity list.

If the mule got sick, a skilled veterinary was called posthaste. He was too valuable to lose. If the man got sick, it was nobody's business to see that he got well. There were plenty of others to take his place.

For the stomach and bowel disorders of babies McGee's Baby Elixir is a remedy of genuine merit. It acts quickly, is pure, wholesome and pleasant to take. Price 25c and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Company.

"Are you in favor of government ownership?"

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum; "on one condition."

From Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"For many months I was not able to do my work owing to a weakness which caused backache and headaches. A friend called my attention to one of your newspaper advertisements and immediately my husband bought three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me. After taking two bottles I felt fine and my troubles caused by that weakness are a thing of the past. All women who suffer as I did should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Jas. Rohrberg, 620 Knapp St., N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Women who suffer from any form of weakness, as indicated by displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues," should accept Mrs. Rohrberg's suggestion and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a thorough trial.

For over forty years it has been correcting such ailments. If you have mysterious complications write for advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS THREATEN TO REVOLT

Yanks In Russia Anxious To Quit Russia For Home

Washington, April 10.—The first mutiny of American troops in the European war is confirmed today by advices to the War Department from Archangel, Russia: A company of infantry, when ordered to pack for the front, refused to obey the order. Only one man was arrested for the outbreak and he was afterwards released.

The mutiny was coupled with a demand by the Americans that they be brought back to their homes. It was intimated that unless officials here make some immediate announcement as to why the American soldiers are kept longer in service in Russia the mutiny will become general.

The War Department gave out only a paraphrase of the cable message, as follows:

The War Department authorizes publication of the following paraphrase of a code message received from Archangel, dated March 31:

"Yesterday morning, March 30, a company of infantry, having received orders to the railroad front, was ordered out of the barracks for the purpose of packing sleds for the trip across the river to the railroad station. The noncommissioned officer in charge of the packing soon reported to the officers that the men refused to obey. At this some of the officers took charge and all except one man began reluctantly to pack after a considerable delay. The soldier who continued to refuse was placed in confinement. Colonel Stewart being sent for, arrived and had the men assembled to talk with them. Upon the condition that the prisoner above mentioned was released, the men agreed to go. This was done, and the company then proceeded to the railway station and entrained there for the front. That they would not go to the front line positions was openly stated by the men, however, and they would only go to Obozerskaya. They also stated that general mutiny would soon come if there was not some definite statement forthcoming from Washington with regard to removal of American troops from Russia at the earliest possible date."

Fear Move May Spread.
What has alarmed officials more than any incident of the mutiny is that the mutineers indicate to the government that if the American troops in Russia are not brought home at "the earliest possible date" the refusal to obey the officers will be general.

Some of the War Department officials said tonight that the mere fact that the soldiers knew that mutiny, refusal to obey orders under such circumstances, would be a capital offense, making them liable to be shot, after court-martial was an evidence that the officers who yielded to them were well aware that the men were, for reasons not made public, actually desperate. It is plain, officers here say, that when the officers were compelled to release a man ordered into confinement, that the latter were powerless and regarded themselves as in the hands of their men.

When the order to pack was given, the men obviously understood this to be an order for them to go to the front in the interior.

Prepare To Send Transports.

The men are said to have been informed that they would be withdrawn as soon as the ice conditions permitted. It is known that the Navy and War Departments are making ready to get transports as near as possible to Archangel. It was the President who made the statement that the men in Russia would come out when conditions made it possible and it is understood if there is to be any expediting of the withdrawal he will give the order to the War Department from Paris.

Senator Johnson, of California, who conducted a fight in the Senate to have the American troops in Russia ordered home, declined to make any comment on the mutiny.

SLEEPING SICKNESS

Disease Here Unlike That Found In South Africa

With the encroachment of what is, through error, called "sleeping sickness," in the South, many people are becoming alarmed, connecting the American disease with the fatal malady in Africa. Dr. D. L. Mumford, a medical missionary of the M. E. Church, South, to Africa, now in America on furlough, stated to a newspaper representative recently that there was no connection whatever between the two forms of sleeping sickness.

In Africa sleeping sickness is caused by the bite of a fly, and the results are often fatal. At first the victim appears to have malaria, and within four or five months they are unable to shake off an intense drowsiness which gradually settles upon them for longer and longer periods of time. If the disease cannot be broken up before this period, there is little hope, though often the victim lingers for three or four years. It comes on slowly and lasts a long time. The medical missionary is doing a great deal of good preaching the gospel of hygiene, which will go a long way towards stopping the spread of that dread disease in Africa.

The disease called sleeping sickness in America is not alarming, except that it is new and somewhat strange. But it only lasts a few weeks, the patient nearly always recovers and, often, is stronger and better for the experience. It appears to be rather a form of nervous prostration caused by great physical exhaustion or overstrained nerves. But the two sleeping sicknesses are not in the least alike in any of their symptoms; and if Americans had seen as many cases of the real thing as I have in Africa, they would not worry at all over the disease in their own country."

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions, and in order to cure it you must take an internal remedy. # Wirthover $1.00 Waists

Just as the name indicates, the Waists are, when judged from every prevailing standard measurement of Waists worth over a dollar. However, as so many folks know we have the inside prices on Waists of all kinds, due to our very friendly intimate co-operation with the foremost Blouse makers of America. Just as you can get a better Waist here—far better—than can be found elsewhere at $1.00, for the self-same reason you can get incomparably better values at all other prices.

We illustrate one of the two new models in dollar Waists which have just been received. They are just as good as they are good looking, and are warranted to give entirely satisfactory wear.

FARM DEPARTMENT.

Preserving Eggs In Lime-Water.

During the spring and early summer, when eggs are abundant and reasonable in price, attention should be given to preserving them for winter use. Fresh eggs, properly preserved in waterglass or lime water, may be kept for 8 to 12 months in excellent condition and used with good results. Eggs laid during April, May, and early June have been found to keep better than those laid later in the season.

If satisfactory results are to be obtained, the eggs should be fresh and clean, and if possible, infertile. Eggs that float when placed in the solution are not fresh, and therefore can not be preserved. When an egg is only slightly soiled, a cloth dampened with vinegar can be used to remove such stains. Under so circumstances should badly soiled or cracked eggs be used for preserving; if put into the jar dirty they will spoil, and washing removes a protective coating which prevents spoiling.

Where waterglass cannot be obtained for the preservation of eggs, the limewater method may be substituted. Dissolve two or three lbs. of unslacked lime in 5 gallons of water that has been previously boiled and allowed to cool, and permit the mixture to stand until the lime settles and the liquid is clear. Place clean, fresh eggs in a clean, earthenware crock or jar, and pour the clear water into the vessel until the eggs are covered. At least 2 inches of the solution should cover the top layer of eggs. Sometimes a pound of salt is used with the lime, but experience has shown that in general the lime without the salt is more satisfactory.

Fresh, clean eggs, properly preserved, can be used satisfactorily for all purposes in cooking and for the table.

Avoid Apple Discoloration.

To prevent apples which are to be served raw from becoming discolored, put them, after paring, into a very weak salt solution (1 to 2 per cent.) the United States Department of Agriculture suggests. A silver knife is better to use for paring apples, pears, and other fruits than one of steel, as the steel frequently discolors the fruit and sometimes leaves a noticeable flavor.

If I Were a Farmer.

If I were a farmer I would keep at hand a few reliable medicines for minor ailments that are not so serious as to require the attention of a physician, such as Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds and croup.

Chamberlain's Liniment, for sprains, bruises and rheumatic pains.

Chamberlain's Tablest for stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation.

By having these articles at hand it would often save the trouble of a trip to town in the busiest season or in the night, and would enable me to treat slight ailments as soon as they appear, and thereby avoid the more serious diseases that so often follow.

NEW YORK METHODIST RAP PEACE COUNCIL

New York, April 12.—A report deplored that "the attention of the world was turned upon future war prevention," involving "long delay," instead of upon immediate adjustment of claims of boundary, indemnity and reparation, was adopted by the New York conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church after the report had been objected to by speakers as equivalent to criticism of President Wilson.

James S. Day, chancellor of Syracuse University, who prepared the report, said he had "very studiously" kept the name of President Wilson out of the document because of "the extreme sensitiveness and tenderness of some of the members of this conference politically."

The report alluded to the menace of Bolshevism asserting that "certain destructive Socialists in our own country were defending it," and declared that the United States must "wake to the preservation" of America's institutions, laws and customs which have for a century and a half "been the hope of all mankind."

"We trust in God," one paragraph of the report read. "Bolshevism, Red Socialism and other forms of anarchism shall not pass."

MARCHING TROOPS ENDANGER BRIDGES

London, March 3.—On many temporary bridges in France it was required that marching troops get out of step so that the synchronized shock of their marching would not imperil the structure.

Some of the large bridges of London are similarly protected. The Albert suspension bridge over the Thames from Chelsea to Battersea has a large sign at either end reading:

"Commanding officers of marching troops will please have their troops break step when proceeding over this bridge."

This recalls a statement of an American engineer that few of the large bridges of the United States could resist the strain of 40 to 50 automobiles, all starting at the same moment and proceeding in the same direction.

TYPHOID IS RAGING AT REFORM SCHOOL

Lexington, Ky., April 4.—It became known this afternoon that typhoid fever is raging in the boy's department at the State Reform School in this country. There are 12 cases and other inmates are threatened.

Henry Arnold, a negro boy, of Jessamine country, is dead of the disease. All inmates and officials have been inoculated with anti-typhus serum. No girls are affected.

GERMANY MAY REJECT PEACE TERMS

There appears to be a growing tendency among all parties in Germany, radical and conservative alike, to refuse any treaty of peace which shall make excessive territorial demands. At first the movement to reject such terms was apparently initiated by the Government in order to influence the Paris Peace Conference to make more reasonable terms, but now the movement has gotten out of Government control. In the German newspapers and among all bodies of people there is a growing unanimity of opinion against yielding to what has been called "enslaving terms." Especially is there protest against the claims to Danzig and the Saar valley. The claim to Malmédy is also now characterized as exorbitant.

In a speech at Berlin, Dr. Schiffer, Minister of Finance in the new Cabinet, said, "I take a most solemn oath that the Government will not surrender to the enemy one inch of German territory, either east or west." In the Prussian Assembly, Premier Hirsch declared that the Government had no intention of giving up the eastern districts of the State and he considered it the State's chief duty to ward off all attacks, especially all those aimed at West Prussia, Posen, and upper Silesia.

According to a Paris report, the Prussian National Assembly has voted unanimously against the relinquishment by Germany of any of the Rhine territory, especially the Saar basin.

KEV. BOYCE TAYLOR LANDS IN JAIL

Murray, Ky., April 10.—The Rev. Kev. Boyce Taylor, pastor of the Murray Baptist Church, who was convicted recently of violating an order of the State Board of Health by holding services at his church while the flu ban was on, surrendered himself to the sheriff at 6 o'clock tonight and was placed in a cell of the Calloway County jail.

At the time of his recent conviction a fine of $100 was assessed against him in the County Court. He refused, it is said, to pay the fine, and the court had just issued a bench warrant to the sheriff to enforce judgement. Unless he pays the fine the minister must remain behind the bars for 100 days.

Public sentiment is sharply divided here regarding the situation, one side taking the stand that the minister is only getting his just due for defying the state law, and the other regarding him as a martyr.

EXPERIENCE PROVES QUININE IN CAPSULES UNRELIABLE

Several years ago a doctor called at my drug store and stated that he was getting no effect from quinine given in capsules to Mrs. —. I answered "This is reasonable as quinine in capsules as well as pills and tablets is sometimes passed by the patient unchanged. Upon investigation he found this to be the case with this particular patient and was compelled to give quinine in liquid form to get any results." J. C. ### CANNIBAL MENUE

'Hippopotimi' Preferred Rather Than Missionaries

There is a man in America just now, who, though he has lived among cannibals, declares he isn't afraid of them. Dr. Mumpower, a medical missionary of the M. E. Church, South, stationed in Africa, is in America now, being called here for the duration of the Centenary Campaign of his Church.

This recalls a statement of an American engineer that few of the large bridges of the United States could resist the strain of 40 to 50 automobiles, all starting at the same moment and proceeding in the same direction.

Church Helps Labor.

As a practical proof of its intentions to help the laboring man the Methodist Episcopal Church in its $115,000,000 Centenary program allows more than $1,800,000 for social, educational and religious work in rural industrial communities alone, besides the millions to be spent among city workers.

Noted Men To Speak.

Men noted all over the world will be speakers at the Celebration in Columbus, from June 20 to July 12, of the centennial of Methodist Missionary work. Among those who have promised to speak are General Leonard Wood and William J. Bryan. It is expected that General Pershing will speak if he gets back to America in time and other soldiers and statesmen are being pledged to attend.

OFFICIAL SUMMARY OF REVISED LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANT

Paris, April 12—An official summary of the revised covenant of the League of Nations, issued to-night, makes specific mention of the Monroe Doctrine with respect to its bearing on the future activities of the league, it says:

The covenant does not affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe Doctrine, for securing the maintenance of peace."

The league, says the statement, will include all belligerent and neutral states named in a document annexed to the covenant, and "in the future any self-governing country whose admission is approved by two-thirds of the States already members of the league."

Provided it has kept its obligations, a State may withdraw from the league on giving two years' notice, and States which signify their dissent from amendments approved by all the States on the council and a majority of those in the assembly, are not bound by them, but, in such case, cease to be members of the league.

Mandatories for the German colonies and the territories of the Ottoman Empire are provided. These colonies and territories are to be administered by States willing to be mandatories of the league, which will exercise general supervision.

The following official summary of the covenant of the League of Nations was issued this afternoon:

First—The League of Nations is founded in order to promote international co-operation and to secure peace. The league will include: (a) The belligerent states named in a document annexed to the covenant. (b) All the neutral states named, and (c) In the future any self-governing country whose admission is approved by two-thirds of the States already members of the league.

A State may withdraw from the league providing it has kept its obligations to date, on giving two years' notice.

Second—The league will act through an assembly comprising not more than three representatives of each of the member states, each state having only one vote, and a council comprising for the present one representative of each of the five great powers and each of four other powers as selected from time to time by the assembly.

The members of powers of each class represented on the council may be increased by the unanimous consent of the council and a majority of the assembly. Other powers have the right to sit as members of the council during the decision of matters in which they are especially interested.

In the council, as in the assembly, each state will have only one vote. Both these bodies are to meet at stated intervals (the council at least once a year) and at other times if required; both can deal with any matter that is of international interest or that threatens the peace of the world; the decision of both must be unanimous, except in certain specified cases, matters of procedure, for instance, being decided by a majority vote.

The league will have a permanent secretariat, under a secretary general. The secretariat and all other bodies under the league may include women, equally with men. A permanent court of international justice and various permanent commissions and bureaus are also to be established.

Third—The member states agree: (A) To reduce their armaments, plans for such reduction being suggested by the council, but only adopted with the consent of the states themselves, and thereafter not to increase them without the concurrence of the council.

(B) To exchange full information of their existing armies and their naval and military programmes.

(C) To respect each other's territory and personal independence, and to guarantee them against foreign aggression.

(D) To submit all international disputes either to arbitration or to inquiry by the council, which latter, however, may not pronounce an opinion on any dispute whose subject matter falls solely within a state's domestic jurisdiction; in no case to go to war till three months afterward, or an unanimous recommendation has been made, and even then not to go to war with a state which accepts the award.

(E) To regard a state which has broken the covenant as having committed an act of war against the league, to break off all economic and other relations with it and to allow free passage through their territories to the troops of those states which are contributing armed force on behalf of the league. The council is to recommend what amount of force, if any, should be supplied by the several governments concerned, but the approval of the latter is necessary.

The members of powers of each class represented on the council may be increased by the unanimous consent of the council and a majority of tions of the league for the purpose of particular disputes, and if they fail to comply may be forced.

(F) Not to consider any treaty binding till it has been communicated to the league, which will then proceed to publish it, to admit the right of the assembly to advise the reconsideration of treaties and international conditions which do not accord with present needs, and to be bound by no obligations inconsistent with the covenant.

A state which breaks its agreements may be expelled from the league by the council.

Monroe Doctrine Upheld.

Fourth—The covenant does not affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe Doctrine, for securing the maintenance of peace.

Fifth—The former German colonies and the territories of the Ottoman Empire are to be administered in the interests of civilization by the states which are willing to be mandatories of the league, which will exercise a general supervision.

Sixth—The member states accept certain responsibilities with regard to labor conditions, the treatment of natives, the white slave traffic, the opium traffic, the arms traffic with uncivilized and semi-civilized countries, transit and trade conditions, public health and Red Cross societies.

Seventh—The league is recognized as the central body interested in co-ordinating and assisting international activities generally.

Eighth—Amendments to the covenant require the approval of all the states or the council and a simple majority of those in the assembly. States which signify their dissent from amendments thus approved are not bound by them, but, in this case, cease to be members of the league.

CALIFORNIAN COMING HOME TO VOTE FOR ED

L. P. Crowder Writes Herald
He Will Turn Up
Nov. 4

Louisville Herald.

The spirit of a united Republican party in Kentucky that will devote its every energy in the next few months to "righting the wrong of 1915" has penetrated to the far reaches of Southern California. At Whittier, Cal., more than 1,800 miles distant from Kentucky, there is a transplanted Ohio County Republican who is nursing the remembrance of 1915 and waiting eagerly to return to Kentucky and vote for Edwin P. Morrow for governor. His name is L. P. Crowder and he lives at 326 South Greenleaf street, Whittier. In a letter to the Herald Mr. Crowder asserts the Republicans of Kentucky "need not seek better timber than Morrow for governor." He expresses the hope that voters at the primary will decide against handicapping Morrow's candidacy with party "drones" and insists that if men are nominated who can command the respect of people of the commonwealth Morrow's victory is a foregone conclusion.

"Counted Out" Four years Ago.

Mr. Crowder writes in part as follows:

"I am from Ohio county, Kentucky, and have been watching political events in my home state with much interest. I can tell from the spirit of the Republicans in Kentucky that Ed Morrow will be our nominee for Governor. No better timber need be sought. He was honestly elected years ago and, as I firmly believe, was dishonestly counted out. Then it was he displayed his many qualities and smilingly accepted the result. How different from the Democrats of Kentucky—ever ready to file a contest!

"As I view it, it is written in the hearts of the voters of Kentucky regardless of party—to elect Ed Morrow governor this coming November. They know that Ed measures up to their estimate of a man's man. They know that he plays the game squarely and because he does this they know that he doesn't have to carry any cold decks around with him or depend upon jokers up his sleeve.

"Now, caution is the mother of safety. My advice to the party is to guard against putting any drones on the state ticket that must stand or fall in November. Nominate only men who can carry not only the full strength of their own party but who will command the respect of all the people of the commonwealth. You may depend upon it, Ed Morrow will do the rest!

"Remembering the many hard-fought battles we have had in old Kentucky, especially in Ohio County, I am counting the days until I shall turn my face eastward once again and returning to Kentucky in November will cast my ballot for the nephew of that great G. O. P. leader, the late William O. Bradley, who I have always regarded as the father of the Republican party in Kentucky."

DO YOU SLEEP WELL?

To be at his best a man must have sound, refreshing sleep. When wakeful and restless at night he is in no condition for work or business during the day. Wakefulness is often caused by indigestion and constipation, and is quickly relieved by Chamberlain's Tablets. Try a dose of these tablets and see how much better you feel with a clear head and good digestion.

DOES LUDENDORFF LIE TO SHIELD MASTER?

By Seifridge Hennegan.

Stockholm, Sweden—"I am alone to blame for the continuance of the war, with its horrors and tragedies. The Kaiser begged me to effect a compromise, but I remained firm. I thought we could win a military victory."

In a hard, bitter voice, void of any trace of remorse, Gen. Ludendorff literally spat these words at me across the table of a room in the Hotel Adlon. He was attired in a frock coat with dark trousers, and there was not a pleasing feature in his countenance, as, looking me full in the face, he proceeded to explain how Germany failed to secure victory.

"Germany could have won the war, he said with some heat. 'Germany, with her power for organization should have been victorious, but she was betrayed. At the very outset of the campaign some of our trusted leaders failed the Kaiser, and later the failure of the people of Germany. Therein lies the secret of our defeat.'

"Had the army received the whole-hearted support of the nation we should have crushed all resistance. But, when the people failed us, when the nation grew weary of the struggle, when private grievances were placed first, and the nation's existence last, is it to be wondered at that our soldiers grew weary, too, after the terrible bloodshed and suffering they were called upon to undergo."

The Biggest Lie.

"It is correct to say that when in 1916 you were appointed to the command it was with the object in finishing the war, with the object of effecting peace?" I asked.

Ludendorff stood up, and banging his fist on the desk, said hotly:

"There was never a bigger lie invented. I was called upon to take command when the armies were in a critical condition. But my orders were to win the war and make peace. There had been blunders; I was sent to rectify them, and I claim I succeeded in my task. Even in those far-off days, it was easy to see that the nation was not supporting the army in the way that was necessary, and my first task was to appeal to the nation. In that appeal I was only partially successful, but the soldiers remained firm."

"At home there were people who sighed for peace at any price, and they worked earnestly for the accomplishment of their purposes. But day after day my difficulties increased. The power of our enemies was growing, their will for destruction becoming stronger and stronger. Yet, I fought on, hoping we should receive the support of our people, which alone was necessary for a speedy termination of hostilities and victory. Throughout that support was withheld."

"It was not until August, 1918, that I surrendered my ideas. I saw then the hopelessness of continuing the struggle. The morale of the men was undermined by the wicked influences at work in the fatherland."

"I communicated my thoughts to the Kaiser, and his majesty seized upon the idea of peace. 'At last,' he exclaimed fervently. 'Thank God I have lived to see my generals say enough of bloodshed.'

"With the Kaiser's full consent and approval I communicated to the chancellor the information that the German armies could not hope to win a victory, and that diplomacy must now play her part."

I asked Gen. Ludendorff whether the crown prince was, as has been stated, anxious for war.

"Anxious?" he asked in amazement. "The crown prince, like his father, sought only peace. His one desire was to see Germany at peace with her neighbors."

"The crown prince begged me in 1917 to yield to a compromise.

Says People Failed.

"I tell you I am responsible for the continuance of the war. I relied upon the support of the whole nation, and that was denied me, hence I failed and others with me failed. The Kaiser and the crown prince are innocent of guilt."

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS

PAINTS AND VARNISHES.

Costs more per gallon but less per job. For fifty-two years the Sherwin-Williams Company has been kept busy making better paints and varnishes—in every can of Sherwin-Williams' Products you get the best technical and practical knowledge in the field today. Their policy of always holding to the highest standard of quality has built for them the largest paint and varnish factory in the world and placed their products in every important domestic and foreign field. Intelligently used, these paints and varnishes are the most economical and best insurance against deterioration. If you have any doubt about color combinations or finishes, or too busy to give the matter proper attention we will gladly make suggestions.

A Paint or Varnish For Every Interior And Exterior Use

FLAT-TONE—

The ideal oil finish for the artistic decoration of walls, ceilings and interior wood-work. Altogether different from the ordinary kalsomine and cold-water finishes.

FLOORLAC—

For staining and varnishing the floors at one operation. Especially made and adapted for hard wear under foot. This product has always been used where a superior floor finish is desired.

POARCH and DECK—

A full linseed oil paint specially prepared for outside exposures. Dries with a tough, elastic surface, capable of resisting most severe weather. The paint for porch floors, steps and decks of boats.

BRIGHTEN-UP-STAIN—

Brighten-Up Stain produces a finish with a high varnish luster and does not fade or lose its brightness like many similar products. Use it on your furniture and standing wood-work.

MARNOT—

The water-proof floor varnish, recommended for use on floors, both new and old, in residences, hotels, public institutions, office buildings and other places where hard usage is the order.

SCARNO—

A water resisting interior varnish for furniture and inside woodwork of the highest grade. Excellent for tables, bathrooms, kitchens, etc. Dries dust free in three to four hours.

REXPAR—

The king of all outside spar varnishes. Use this where an absolutely waterproof varnish is necessary, such as on yachts, boats, store fronts, outside doors—will not turn white.

BARN RED—

A bright, handsome red that works easy, covers well and dries with a nice, smooth and durable finish. Use this for painting the barn, corn crib and rough fences.

BARN GRAY—

A very beautiful gray for the painting of outbuildings and fences. This paint has a good covering capacity, and like Barn Red is put up in any size from  $\frac{1}{2}$  gallon to a barrel.

OLD DUTCH ENAMEL—

Use "Old Dutch Enamel" where you desire a dull white interior finish. It is a full-bodied pure white enamel which produces the effect of rubbed work without the necessity of rubbing.

ENAMELOID—

For use on inside walls, ceilings and woodwork where a high gloss finish is desired—dandy for clothes closets because it lightens the dark corners. In soft and delicate shades.

PORCELAIN BATH

ENAMEL—

A tough, tenacious and durable enamel for the bathtub that will not chip or flake. Frequent repainting is unnecessary as in the use of other enamels. Costs a little more—worth it.

AUTO and BUGGY PAINT—

Frequent washing does not injure the gloss or durability of this paint. And it is easily applied in one operation. Especially good for quick repair work. Every desirable color.

FAMILY PAINT—

The handy home paint for baseboards, shelving, cupboards, flower boxes and the many little things about the house. Will stand repeated cleaning with soap and water, and wears well.

COLORS Ground In OIL—

We carry the complete S.W. line of staple colors for the practical painter, decorator and sign-writer ground in oil. Packages:  $12\frac{1}{2}$  and 25-pound pails. A most satisfactory product.

COLORS Ground In Japan—

Quick-drying paint for use as color-coats in the finishing of automobiles, coaches, cars carriages and other highly finished surfaces. A recognized standard of excellency.

HANDCRAFT STAIN—

Here's a line of the highest grade artistic stains, exclusive in character. They have none of the objectionable features of water or spirit stains, and will not raise the wood grain.

OIL STAINS—

A moderate priced finish that indicates closely the color of wood of similar name. They possess strong staining qualities, are thoroughly uniform and produce beautiful color effects.

FLOORWIPE—

Floorwipe is not intended as a polish alone, but as an excellent combination cleaner and polisher. It makes old waxed and varnished surfaces look like new—no hard rubbing necessary.

SWP—

Sherwin-Williams Paint, Prepared (SWP), is the best paint we know of. There is no other material, either ready prepared or hand-mixed, that will give such uniformly good results. Every wanted color, in qt.,  $\frac{1}{2}$  gal., 1 gal., and 5-gal., cans and barrels.

FLOORWAX—

Extensively used on autos, as well as on furniture where a waxed finish is desired; also suitable for ballrooms, bowling alleys, etc. Takes a high polish, wears well and will not scratch.

SCREEN ENAMEL—

For renewing old screens and preventing rust. Does not close up the mesh and dries with a high gloss that prevents dust and dirt from adhering to the surface. Gives double wear to screens.

S. W. SHELLACS—

Pure white and white, pure orange and orange for all uses for which white and orange shellac are desired. Half pint, pint, quart, half-gallon and gallon cans. Directions on label.
